

MOMS OF MAKE A WISH CHILDREN TO RECEIVE PAMPERING

MURRAY, UT - While the Make a Wish Foundation works around the clock to make wishes come true for the terminally ill, the mothers of these children and the tireless efforts they exert to take care of their special needs often go unnoticed.

Cameo College of Essential Beauty is making one wish come true for Make a Wish mothers. On January 20, the college is giving away free haircuts and manicures to 30 deserving moms.

Tiffany Chambers of Prince Perelson & Associates recently participated in taking 101 children on the Polar Express in Heber City. "I spent some time with the moms and they were so tired from working and taking care of a child with a disability who they could lose at any time. I talked with one of the moms and it had been since last April that she had even had a hair cut," said Chambers.

Brenda Scharman, owner of Cameo College of Essential Beauty, was touched by the story and decided to offer free haircuts for many of these mothers. According to Scharman, 30 have signed up throughout the day for Tuesday, January 20.

"I am so happy that Cameo is making these stressed moms feel beautiful again," said Chambers.

Cameo College of Essential Beauty is located in Murray and offers salon and day spa skin services to the public by supervised students. The school also offers career courses in cosmetology, barbering, esthetics, nails, electrolysis and permanent makeup.
